Has Not Resigned

The rumor that E. C. White, Judge of Probate, had resigned, is untrue. The Judge has said that he will not be a candidate for re-election; but he expects to serve out his term, which expires Jan. 31, 1915. Until then he and his register will look after probate business in the same efficient manner that they have for the past twenty years.

Bakery Change

W. D. Utton of Hardwick has purchased the Bon Ton Bakery business and stock of goods of J. E. Springer and took possession last Monday. Mr. Utton will remodel the same into an up-to-date and sanitary bake shop and will have an expert baker from Boston in charge. Later in the season he will run a cart through this and surrounding towns. See adv. elsewhere on this page.

Through the courtesy of Geo. F. Earle his first page advertising space is given this week to the Morrisville Musical Festival. Mr. Earle's adv. appears on page 4.

HYDE PARK

H. A. Noyes has had a steel roof put on his garage.

The ice cream season opened up last week at Wood's.

Jos. Wood was home from his work on Grand Isle over Sunday.

Rev. D. L. Sanford of Hardwick held Episcopal service here last Sunday.

R. S. Page has sold his Peter Agin farm, near the Electric Light Plant, to Thomas Moore.

Matrimonial alliances, like the mumps, are catching. We hear distinct rumors of more wedding bells.

"Clean up week" has gone by and still that remnant of a wood-pile remains in front of the Odd Fellows block. Why?

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kramer of Morrisville and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Drew of Hardwick were visitors at The Elms last Sunday.

Lincoln Griswold is having noticeable repairs made upon his residence on the corner of Church street and Electricity Ave. E. G. Sherwin is the master mechanic.

Miss Belle Wheelock, for some time assistant cook at the Inn, has completed her engagement there and gone to Morrisville, where she has a similar position at the Randall.

The annual meeting of the Hyde Park Village Improvement Society will be held Tuesday, May 19, at 7:30 p. m. Let the attendance be large, as business of great importance will be transacted.

"The Colonel's Maid," given by the L. C. A. at the Opera House last evening, was the best school play given here in many a day. The attendance was large and all were highly pleased. The parts were all well taken and the play—a three-act comedy—was full of fun from start to finish. The parts were taken as follows: Col. Rudd, Raymond Warren; Col. Byrd, Hugh Scofield; Bob Rudd, Archie Parren; Mrs. Carroll, Miss Fannie Christie; Julia Carroll, Miss Addie Stone; Ned Graydon, Everett Fairbanks; James Bascom, Guy Harrington; Ching, Wallace Mudgett. A song by Isadore Hood received hearty applause.
